Many thanks to everyone who came out to our International Blues Challenge (IBC) Benefit for Randy Colvin and The Beat Daddys at Stevie Ray's on January 11. We raised $575 to help assist the KBS representatives as they make their way to Memphis for the annual blues competition. Kudos to our many volunteers; to MOM's Music, MERF, Stevie Ray's and our own Natalie Carter for the raffle items; and to our bands, Primo, Boscoe France and Friends, One Shot Johnny and The Beat Daddys with special guest Prince Phillip Mitchell for the fantastic show.

Two cities close to us will be holding winter blues festivals during the month of February. The Cincy Blues Society will have twenty-five bands on three stages over two nights, Friday and Saturday, February 6 and 7. The headliners are Popa Chubby and Joanne Shaw Taylor and the festival takes place at The Phoenix in downtown Cincinnati. More info is available at <http://cincyblues.org/>. The Fifth Annual Indy Winter Blues Festival is Saturday, February 14 at Birdy's in Indianapolis.

The show will feature the Governor Davis Band, Mike Milligan & Steam Shovel, Craig Brenner & the Crawdads and Blindboy & the CNI Dawgs.

Notable events this month include Selwyn Birchwood, winner of the Blues Foundation's 2013 IBC Band Contest at the New Vintage on Tuesday, February 3. Birchwood was winner of the Albert King Guitarist of the Year award that same year at the IBC. He'll also be at Willie's Locally Known in Lexington the next night. In addition, the New Vintage will have the funk groups Yo Mama's Big Fat Booty Band on Thursday, February 5 and MojoFlo on Friday, February 13. All three shows are $10 in advance, $12 the day of the show and KBS members can receive a $2 discount by presenting their membership card. Fat Box, the Kentucky Blues Society's band representative to this year's IBC will be at the Hideaway Saloon on Friday, February 13. The Bowling Green, KY band plays a mix of blues, funk and jazz. A New York city band that plays the jazz piano, boogie-woogie style of Fats Waller called The Hot Sardines will be at the Ogle Center in New Albany, IN on Saturday, February 14 and at the ECU Center for the Arts in Richmond, KY on Tuesday, February 24. On Saturday, February 28, the Brown Theatre will host another in their Blues at the Crossroads Series. Sponsored by Brown-Forman, this one is called The Soul of the Blues and will feature "The Soul Queen of New Orleans" Grammy-winner Irma Thomas, joined by vocalists Lee Fields and Alecia Chakour, guitarist Eric Krasno of Soulive and The Dynamites. They'll be playing hits from such artists as Otis Redding, Aretha Franklin, Booker T & the MG's, Etta James, Sam & Dave, Bobby Womack and James Brown.

We are very excited to announce our newest board members to the blues society. Elaine Hertweck and David Scoggin were elected to the board at the January meeting. Elaine is the current president of MERF and has been a strong supporter of local music for several years. You can catch David blowing harp at some of our local jams and open mics. If you see them anytime in the near future, please thank them for their support.

Due to an error by our printing company, most people did not receive the January issue until almost mid-month. Even though the KBS is completely staffed by volunteers, we try very hard every month to get each issue into your mailbox by the first of the month. Sometimes this is out of our control and January was one of those months. I apologize to everyone who did not receive the issue in a timely manner.

Gary

New Music Reviews!

Mississippi Adam Riggle Band God Willing Mississippi Adam Riggle Band

11 tracks, all original, all typical (Louisville's own) Mississippi Adam Riggle . Let me just say right up front, MAR may not be your cup-a-soup, but his rare talent and artistic ability are without question and unchallenged. His fans (and I for one from the Zena Days) follow him like a pied piper and are very much cultish about it. To appreciate Mississippi Adam Riggle is to inhale his music through every pore of one's ear and savor it like a fine wine, or my favorite Four Roses Bourbon.

He writes and composes from deep in the heart of his soul, like only few can. His guitar licks mixed with that gravelly baritone is spot on. Laid in with a rhythm section of Lenny Popp on drums, combined with James Warfield's unique bass deliveries, rounded out with the angelic, sometimes devilishly rough tones of Brick Marlin's Harmonica, one receives an amplified, resonating sound that only a true blues aficionado can appreciate. Raw, Mean, and Emotional. Walk into any juke joint up and down the 51 Hwy in the early days, add a dose of Rasta (ala Bob Marley, at least in spirit) fast forward to today and there you have it. If there ever was a deal made down at the crossroads, in our time, MAR is signed, sealed, & delivered. This CD has a place in everyone's collection. Support our local musicians.

Homemade Jamz Blues Band Mississippi Hill Country Homemade Jamz Band

This CD is the latest recording from Homemade Jamz Blues Band. The group consists of three siblings. Ryan Perry is the oldest and plays guitar and sings. Kyle Perry next oldest plays the bass and the youngest, Taya Perry is the drummer. The band is well known and gets its name from the fact they play homemade guitars. The guitars are generally made out of old car parts and cheap guitars. Even though their instruments may be unconventional, these youngsters are very talented. Ryan became interested in the blues at a very early age and his success in learning the blues trade helped to interest his brother and sister in following his lead. This CD consists of 13 songs all written by Ryan Perry except for cut number ten, "Ain't No Sunshine". Ryan Perry also produced the recording. If you are looking to see where the future of the blues is going you may want to check out this band. They finished second in the 23rd International Blues Contest held in Memphis.

The CD is certainly worth listening to if you like Mississippi blues. I hope the group continues to make blues music as we need some younger blood to carry on the blues tradition.

Paul Thorn Too Blessed To Be Stressed Perpetual Obscurity

On Paul Thorn's last album, 2012's What The Hell Is Going On, he dealt with some heavy topics on the title cut. For this new release, Too Blessed To Be Stressed, Paul embraces the positivity found in the title track. The disc opens with "Everything's Gonna Be Alright," and your toes are instantly tapping. Paul's cinematic lyrics play through your mind on "Too Blessed to Be Stressed," as Thorn provides slice of life glimpses into several different American experiences. He hits the warm and fuzzy trifecta with "Everybody Needs Somebody," singing "...when you make a friend, that's when everybody wins. A little love can put a smile on your face." It was at this point in the CD that my wife asked what we were listening to. "I really like this," she added.

Paul Thorn has always written the truth into his lyrics, whether it's the honesty of the male figures he grew up watching in a song like 2010's "Pimps and Preachers," or the social commentary of American culture in this record's "Mediocrity Is King." So, you can believe him when he sings about his continued attempts to "be a good man" in the track "I Backslide

On Friday.” It’s important to note the impact of Paul’s songwriting partner, Billy Maddox, who shares credit on all of these songs with Paul, save for one. “Get You A Healin’” was written by Carlo J Ditta.

It’s the songwriting that sets Paul Thorn apart from everybody else. Sure, the arrangements are fantastic, and the playing is top notch; but personally, I come to every new Paul Thorn record with excitement about the words in these songs. Let’s not gloss over the band, though. Give a call to Bill Hinds (guitar, harmonies), Jefferey Perkins (drums), Ralph Friedrichsen (bass, harmonies, co-writing credit on Everybody Needs Somebody), and Michael Graham (keys) for the work they did on this album. Paul also renews his relationship with the incredible McCrary Sisters, who provide backing vocals on three tracks. The liner notes include this fun fact: the McCrary Sisters were recorded for this album at sea during the Sandy Beaches Cruise.

The Blues has always been about heartache and pain; but they’ve also been about joy and celebration. With that in mind, Paul Thorn’s album Too Blessed To Be Stressed is worth your time for the 43 minutes of sonic joy that you’ll get listening.

Mud Morganfield & Kim Wilson For Pops - A Tribute To Muddy Waters Underworld Records

Anybody who likes Muddy Waters’ contribution to blues (surely that is everybody) and knows his voice will appreciate this CD. Muddy’s son, who goes by “Mud” teamed up with Kim Wilson (after all, Muddy Water’s always had a great harp player in his group) to record an exceptional CD. Mud’s voice evokes Muddy since it is almost indistinguishable from Muddy. In fact it is uncanny. If you have been listening to the Saturday Night Blues Party on WFPK, you will have heard the music and noted Kevin Yazell’s comments about the similarities. It is almost spooky.

Mud selected some great songs of his father, but shied away from his biggest hits, so often overplayed. His selection was exemplary. The selection of musicians is nothing to ignore either. As mentioned, Kim Wilson joins on harp, Billy Flynn on guitar, Rusty Zinn on Guitar, Barrelhouse Chuck on piano, Steve Gomes on bass, and Robb Stupka on drums.

There are 14 songs on the CD, all Muddy tunes of course. They include some lesser played songs, but also includes “I Love the Life I Live and Live the Life I Love”, “Blow Wind Blow”, “Nineteen Years Old”, “I Just Want to Make Love to You”, and others.

This CD was released near the 100th birthday of Muddy Waters which makes it even more of a tribute CD. Mud takes up where his father left off. One can only hope that he can carry on beyond this release in his father’s footsteps.

This is an excellent CD. If you are a fan of Muddy Waters, then you must have this CD. If not, you should get this CD to introduce you to the genius of Muddy Waters and his offspring.

Popa Chubby I’m Feelin’ Lucky Cleopatra Records

This is the latest release from Popa Chubby, marking the 25th anniversary of his emergence into the New York blues scene. The CD contains 10 tracks, nine of which are credited to Mr. Horowitz (Popa Chubby) along with some other co-writers. The other track is a cover of “Rollin’ and Tumblin’”. This cover may be the best recording of this song I have ever heard. The recording begins with a track entitled “Come To Me”. It is an excellent duet with Dana Fuchs (who must be the reincarnation of Janis Joplin). From there, the CD continues to produce one nice song after another. I particularly enjoyed track two entitled “One Leg At A Time” and track nine, entitled “I’m A Pitbull”.

For those of you who are familiar with Popa Chubby, you will not be disappointed with this effort. All the tracks were very good and this is an excellent CD. I would highly recommend it. You can check out the teaser on YouTube under Popa Chubby – new album
